Implications of the Treaty of Waitangi on Professional Practice

with Professor Sir Mason Durie

Thursday June 4th 2015

The Treaty of Waitangi, NZ’s founding document, was meant to be a partnership between Maori and the British Crown. Although the intention was to create unity, different understandings of The Treaty and breaches of it, have caused conflict.

- So what then, is the relevance of The Treaty to professionals today?
- How do we sort through the myriad of issues and give real meaning and effect to The Treaty in our everyday lives and work?
- What can you do at a practical and professional level to practice the principles of The Treaty and the 1989 government Principles supporting The Treaty and its protocols?

Mason Durie is from Rangitane, Ngati Kauwhata and Ngati Raukawa and was formerly Deputy Vice-Chancellor and Professor of Maori Research and Development at Massey University. He has a background in medicine and psychiatry. He is author of numerous books and articles including “Nga Matatini Maori Diverse Realities”, “Whaiora Maori Health Development”, contributions to “Social Dimensions of Health and Disease: a New Zealand Perspective”, and many other publications. Mason is a very special person and this seminar will enrich you, both as a professional and a New Zealander.

Where: Auckland University EPSOM Campus, Music Auditorium, Gate 3, Epsom Ave, Mt. Eden, Auckland. (Parking in Student Car Park at Gate 2 & on street)

When: Thursday 4th June 2015   9:15am – 3.00 pm

Cost: $195.00 (inc. GST) Direct Credit or cheques to Professional Development Seminars

Morning tea ONLY included. Lunch available from Uni café or Mt Eden Village

Queries: info@pdseminars.co.nz

ENROLMENT FORM:  Implications of Treaty of Waitangi: Thurs 4th June 2015

Name: ..........................................................Organisation: ..........................................................

Address (to send Invoice/Receipt): ..........................................................

Ph. (Mobile): ............................ Email: ..........................................................

$195 fee enclosed [ ] or Please Invoice [ ]

Mail to: PD Seminars, PO Box 84-260, Westgate, Auckland 0618  OR Register for this seminar online at www.pdseminars.co.nz